Profile

As a KPI specialist, Victor has been a Vimigo account manager for 3 years serving clients from different industries including manufacturing, F&B, education & etc. The company size he has served are as large as 500 headcounts to as small as 3-4 employees.

His decision to become a HR Coach was influenced by his friends and the SME owners he was surrounded by. He observed a lack of alignment between employers and employees' expectations, which posed limitations to the SME owners' business expansion. This inspired him to join Vimicoach, where he believes his role as a KPI expert can create value and ensure that employees and employers are on the same page to achieve mutual success.
